

Library Collections and Services

The University of Pittsburgh libraries and collections provide an abundant amount of information and services to the University's students, faculty, staff, administrators, and researchers of the University. In fiscal year 2002, the University's 29 libraries and collections have surpassed 4.6 million volumes, more than 4.4 million pieces of microforms, more than 24,700 print subscriptions, and more than 8,000 electronic journals.

Under the administration of the University Librarian, the University Library System (ULS) includes the following libraries and collections: Hillman (main), African American, Buhl (social work), East Asian, Special Collections, Government Documents, Allegheny Observatory, Archives Service Center, Center for American Music, Chemistry, Computer Science, Darlington Memorial (American history), Engineering (Bevier Library), Frick Fine Arts, Information Sciences, Katz Graduate School of Business, Langley (biological sciences, behavioral neuroscience, psychology), Mathematics, Music, Physics, and Public and International Affairs/Economics. The ULS also maintains an off-campus book storage depository at the University of Pittsburgh Applied Research Center (UPARC) while a new, larger storage facility is being built at Thomas Boulevard.

The Hillman Library is the largest library facility with seating for 1,530 users. It offers an open stack arrangement and an extensive range of library services. In addition to the main collection, which is comprised primarily of humanities and social sciences subject areas, the Hillman Library is comprised of five other libraries and collections, and houses maps, national and international newspapers, and microform facilities.

The Health Sciences Library System (HSL) provides collections and services to meet the information needs of the educational, clinical, and research programs of the Schools of Medicine, Dental Medicine, Pharmacy, Health and Rehabilitation Sciences, Nursing and the Graduate School of Public Health, as well as the hospitals of the UPMC Health System. The HSL includes Falk Library of the Health Sciences, the Western Psychiatric Institute and Clinic Library and the Libraries at UPMC Shadyside. The Computer and Media Center in Falk Library is the primary health sciences facility and service point for audiovisual and microcomputer resources. HSL Online (www.hsls.pitt.edu) is the gateway to extensive electronic resources for clinical and research needs.

Other University libraries include the Barco Law Library, and those libraries located at each of the University's four regional campuses, in Johnstown, Greensburg, Titusville, and Bradford.

PITTCAT is the University of Pittsburgh's online library catalog, offering author, title, subject, and keyword access to materials to all University libraries. PITTCAT currently contains bibliographic holdings and circulation information for more than four million titles, representing most of the book and periodical collections in all University libraries. In addition, the University libraries provide access to many remote resources for University of Pittsburgh faculty, students, and staff, including: Encyclopedia Britannica, netLibrary, EBSCOhost, IAC SearchBank, CIS Compass, Web of Science, MUSE, JSTOR, Science Direct, and numerous other electronic journals. PITTCAT and other databases are available through the ULS website at www.library.pitt.edu.
