The University of Pittsburgh at a Glance

The University of Pittsburgh of the Commonwealth System of Higher Education is a nonsectarian, coeducational, state-related, public research university. The Universitywas founded in a log cabin near the confluence of Pittsburgh's three rivers in 1787 as a small, private school named the Pittsburgh Academy. In 1819 the academy evolved to become the Western University of Pennsylvania, concurrent with an expansion of its educational mission. In 1908 the school received a new name, the University of Pittsburgh, and it moved to a new location in what is now the Oakland section of Pittsburgh. The institution became state-related in 1966.

Since its founding 224 years ago, the University of Pittsburgh has emerged as the most comprehensive educational and research complex in the region. Pitt has received international recognition as a center for learning and research, and it has established a wide range of academic programs and services for the Pittsburgh metropolitan population of 2.4 million. With an enrollment of more than 35,000 students, the University accounts for approximately 5 percent of all students enrolled in institutions of higher education in Pennsylvania. More than 13,500 faculty, research associates, post doctoral associates, and staff members support the needs and interests of the University. As a pivotal force in the area's renaissance, Pitt functions as an economic engine, contributing 1.74 billion dollars to the region annually.

The University comprises five campuses. The 132-acre Pittsburgh Campus is located in Oakland, the City of Pittsburgh's cultural and medical center. The University's four regional campuses are located in the following areas of western Pennsylvania: Johnstown, Greensburg, Titusville, and Bradford.

More than 100 academic, research, and administrative buildings, and residence halls are located on the Pittsburgh Campus. The 42-story Cathedral of Learning is an architectural landmark, and it stands as one of the tallest academic buildings in the world. Moreover, visitors from around the globe have toured the famed Nationality Rooms, which are located in the Cathedral of Learning. The Nationality Rooms provide functional, museum quality classrooms, while displaying cultural themes that celebrate the traditions of the region's many ethnic groups. These stylistic motifs include Classical, Byzantine, Romanesque, Baroque, Renaissance, Tudor, and Empire designs.

The Pittsburgh Campus is comprised of 16 undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools. These entities include the following: the School of Arts and Sciences; the College of General Studies; the University Honors College; the Joseph M. Katz Graduate School of Business and College of Business Administration; the School of Education; the Swanson School of Engineering; the Schools of Law, Social Work, and Information Sciences; the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs; and the University's six schools of the health sciences. The health sciences include the Graduate School of Public Health and the Schools of Dental Medicine, Health and Rehabilitation Sciences, Medicine, Nursing, and Pharmacy.

The Pittsburgh Campus schools provide undergraduate and graduate certificate programs and baccalaureate, master's, and doctorate - professional practice degree programs. The regional campuses feature undergraduate certificate programs and associate and baccalaureate degree programs. Overall, the University provides 444 distinct degree programs, augmented by numerous dual, joint, and cooperative degree program options. In fiscal year 2010, the University conferred 8,248 degrees.

The University of Pittsburgh is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools and additionally by various specialized accrediting agencies. Furthermore, Pitt is an elected member of the Association of American Universities, an invitation-only organization of 61 preeminent doctorate-granting research institutions in the United States and Canada.

UPMC (University of Pittsburgh Medical Center) is affiliated with the University of Pittsburgh's schools of the health sciences. A $9 billion integrated global health enterprise and one of the leading nonprofit health systems in the United States, UPMC uses innovative science, technology, and medicine to invent new models of accountable, cost-efficient, and patient-centered care. The of internationally renowned programs in home transplantation, cancer, neurosurgery, psychiatry, orthopedics, and sports medicine, among others, UPMC integrates more than 20 hospitals with more than 50,000 employees, 400 doctors' offices and outpatient sites, and a major health insurance services division. UPMC demonstrates its commitment to developing and delivering Life Changing Medicine by commercializing its medical and technological expertise through the creation of new companies, the development of strategic business relationships with some of the world's leading multinational corporations, and the expansion into international markets.

Numerous organizations, athletic events and cultural happenings energize student life at the University throughout the year. Art exhibits, theatre performances, and music concerts present a variegated spectrum of activities for the enrichment of the entire region. The Pitt ARTS program has been connecting students to the cultural life of the city since the organization was founded in 1997.

The University continues to make great strides in offering quality education, research, and public service locally and internationally. Admission to Pitt has become more selective in recent years, with 51% of first-year students graduating in the top 10% of their high school classes, as compared to 22% in 1996. The University has moved into the top 10 American higher education institutions in terms of federal funding, as reported by the National Science Foundation. Pitt also ranks among the top five universities nationally in annual research support awarded by the National Institutes of Health. The University is forging ahead, reaching new milestones in the effort to be one of the finest, most productive academic institutions in the world.

Mission Statement

The University of Pittsburgh, founded in 1787, is one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States. As one of the nation's distinguished comprehensive universities, the resources of the University constitute an invaluable asset for the intellectual, economic, and social enrichment of Pennsylvania, while the international prestige of the University enhances the image of Pennsylvania throughout the world.

The University's mission is to:

- provide high-quality undergraduate programs in the arts and sciences and professional fields, with emphasis upon those of special benefit to the citizens of Pennsylvania;
- offer superior graduate programs in the arts and sciences and the professions that respond to the needs of Pennsylvania, as well as to the broader needs of the nation and the world;
- engage in research, artistic, and scholarly activities that advance learning through the extension of the frontiers of knowledge and creative endeavor;
- cooperate with industrial and governmental institutions to transfer knowledge in science, technology, and health care;
- offer continuing education programs adapted to the personal enrichment, professional upgrading, and career advancement interests and needs of adult Pennsylvanians; and
- make available to local communities and public agencies the expertise of the University in ways that are consistent with the primary teaching and research functions and contribute to social, intellectual, and economic development in the Commonwealth, the nation, and the world.

The trustees, faculty, staff, students, and administration of the University are dedicated to accomplishing this mission, to which they pledge their individual and collective efforts, determined that the University shall continue to be counted among the prominent institutions of higher education throughout the world.

Member Institutions of the Association of American Universities

The University of Pittsburgh is a member of the Association of American Universities (AAU), a prestigious organization of 63¹ leading doctorate-granting research institutions in the United States and Canada. The University identifies the AAU as an appropriate peer group for statistical and policy comparisons. The following table provides an alphabetical listing of the 37 public and 26 private universities that comprise the membership of the organization. The table also indicates the state or country in which each institution is located (the abbreviation CN denotes the two Canadian schools), along with the year of admission to the AAU.

Notes: The degree and certificate programs listed are those which are currently offered.

Application to certain programs and the conferring of specific, non-terminal degrees in these programs may be contingent upon departmental guidelines.

CERT and ADVCTD denote the undergraduate-level and graduate-level certificates, respectively. Specifically, ADVCTD denote the masters-level and doctoral-level certificates, respectively.

The Bachelor of Philosophy degree (BPhil) is offered through the Honors College and is available in all baccalaureate programs. As such, it is enumerated only once in this table. The one exception is the Arts and Sciences degree program, International and Area Studies, in which the sole baccalaureate awarded is the BPhil.

Offered in addition to those programs listed here are the combined major and numerous dual, joint, and cooperative degree programs.

Sponsored Research, as referenced in this table, comprises both the direct costs attributable to the "Research" expense category and the indirect costs attributed to other expense categories. The direct costs portion and institutionally-funded (i.e., non-sponsored) research expenses (the latter not shown in this table) comprise the amount shown for the expense category "Research" for FY 2010. These data appear in the table Consolidated Statements of Revenues, Expenses, and Changes in Net Assets, Fiscal Year 2009 to 2011.

Note: The centers, institutes, laboratories, and clinics listed are University of Pittsburgh or University affiliated organizations. They are either single or multidisciplinary in scope, and are generally involved in some combination of education, research or service activities. Each center, institute, laboratory, and clinic is listed under the name of the unit with which it is associated.

The Office of Management Information and Analysis modifies this listing throughout the year.

&lt;sup>1</sup> Centers and institutes in the category "University Centers and Institutes" are distinguished by organizational permanence, programmatic autonomy, and an annual operating budget fiscally independent of any other academic, research, and/or service unit.

Library Collections and Services

The University of Pittsburgh libraries and collections provide an abundant amount of information and services to our students, faculty, staff, administrators, and researchers. In fiscal year 2010, the University's 26 libraries and collections have surpassed 6.1 million volumes. In addition, they contain more than 5.4 million microforms, and over 87,000 current serials.

Under the administration of the Hillman University Librarian and Director, the University Library System (ULS) includes the following libraries and collections: Hillman (main), African American, Allegheny Observatory, Archives Service Center, Buhl (social work), Center for American Music, Chemistry, Special Collections, East Asian, Engineering (Bevier Library), Frick Fine Arts, Government Documents, Information Sciences, Katz Graduate School of Business, Langley (biological sciences, behavioral neuroscience), Music, Public and International Affairs/Economics, and Special Collections. Furthermore, the University's four regional campuses operate separate libraries, and the ULS maintains a high-density storage area at the Library Facility in the Point Breeze section of Pittsburgh.

The Hillman Library is the largest facility with seating for 1,625 users. It offers an open stack arrangement and an extensive range of library services. Hillman Library houses collections in the humanities and social sciences, and includes area studies, psychology, computer science, maps, and government documents.

In addition to the University Library System, the University offers the Barco Law Library and the Health Sciences Library System.

The Health Sciences Library System (HSLS) at the University of Pittsburgh comprises several libraries that support the educational, research, patient care, and service activities of the schools of the health sciences (Medicine, Dental Medicine, Pharmacy, Health and Rehabilitation Sciences, Nursing, and Public Health) as well as the hospitals of the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center. The HSLS includes Falk Library of the Health Sciences, the Libraries at UPMC Shadyside, and the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh Libraries. The Computer and Media Center in Falk Library is the primary health sciences facility and service point for audiovisual and microcomputer resources. HSLS Online (www.hsls.pitt.edu) is the gateway to extensive electronic resources for clinical and research needs.

PITTCat+, the University of Pittsburgh's online library catalog, contains information for more than 6.1 million items. In particular, PITTCat+ provides access to materials held in all University libraries, as well as to online journal newspaper and magazine articles, hundreds of thousands of licensed and freely available e-books, digital images and texts. The ULS also provides access to a comprehensive journal and magazine article discovery tool, as well as hundreds of additional general and subject specific databases supporting the research needs of Pitt faculty, staff, and students. These and hundreds of other online resources are available via the Pitt Digital Library at www.library.pitt.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is a member of the Association of Research Libraries. Through membership in several Pennsylvania consortia of libraries, including PALCI and Lyrasis, Pitt has developed cooperative borrowing arrangements with other Pennsylvania institutions.

Information technology is an integral part of the academic and research mission of the University of Pittsburgh. Worldwide computing, networked information, online collaboration, and technology-delivered instruction are daily experiences at the University's five campuses. Computing Services and Systems Development (CSSD) provides the infrastructure, resources, and support for these services that are utilized by nearly every student, faculty, and staff member.

CSSD maintains the Information Technology Web site at technology.pitt.edu to provide the University community with a one-stop source for technology resources, as well as technology news and computer security services.

University Computing Accounts and Electronic Mail

Each student, faculty, and staff member receives a University Computing Account at the time of admission or employment. It provides access to the computing and technology services described below. The account features a unique username that is used in conjunction with a secure password. Forgotten passwords can be reset online using the Self-Service Password Reset Service. Students, faculty, and staff must set three online security questions at accounts.pitt.edu before using the service.

University email addresses consist of a username followed by "@pitt.edu" (for example, abc123@pitt.edu). Students, faculty, and staff can read University email online from any location by using the Webmail feature on any page at My Pitt (my.pitt.edu). All official University correspondence is sent to a user's University email address. CSSD's spam and virus email filtering service stops dangerous viruses and unwanted email from reaching @pitt.edu email addresses. Email forwarding information is available at accounts.pitt.edu.

Network and Telecommunications Environment

CSSD provides the network infrastructure and telecommunications backbone for the University community. The University's data network, PittNet, operates over a 10 Gigabit backbone that joins hundreds of local Ethernets into a large, geographically distributed network and connects thousands of computers at all five University campuses to the Internet. PittNet extends into campus buildings with reliable 1 Gigabit connections and service points to University offices and workspaces at 100 Mbps. The undergraduate residence halls are fully wired, with one Ethernet port per student. An extensive consulting and support program is available in the residence halls to support student computing.

Wireless PittNet, the University's campus-wide wireless network, is built upon the strength of the University's wired network. It provides fast, secure, and easy-to-use Internet access from academic buildings and residence hall common areas across the campus. Guest Wireless Service is available to provide short-term Internet access to visitors on official University business.

When students, faculty, and staff are off-campus, they have access to PittNet through the Secure Remote Access service, which provides a convenient way to access restricted online library journals, databases, and other University resources at any time and from any location. Access to PittNet is also available through a modem pool that supports dial-up connections.

My Pitt (my.pitt.edu), the University's Web portal, provides students, faculty, and staff with a personal guide to the Pitt experience. My Pitt makes it possible to check email, register for classes, view grades and class schedules, pay tuition bills, and access retirement benefit information from one convenient location. My Pitt automatically displays unique, custom home pages for students, faculty, staff, and applicants. The Freshman Experience section provides new students with academic planning resources, a month-bymonth checklist, and answers to frequently asked questions. University units and schools can easily disseminate information to their students, faculty, and staff through communities that can be accessed from the My Resources menu.

The University's Web Conferencing Service is a secure and convenient online solution for faculty and staff to host virtual meetings and collaborate with colleagues across campus or around the globe. The service is accessed through the Web Conferencing community at My Pitt (my.pitt.edu), and it supports Windows, Mac, and Linux operating systems.

Pitt Mobile (m.pitt.edu) delivers University information and services tailored to mobile devices. This feature allows individuals to browse an interactive campus map, check hours of operation for libraries, bookstores, and computing labs, view upcoming campus events, access Pitt shuttle schedules, find people online, and much more.

Extensive telecommunications support is provided to more than 19,500 telephones. Advanced services such as audio conferencing, Automated Call Distribution, calling cards, and professional consulting on wireless telephone service are available to the University community. Faculty and staff can have voice mail messages delivered to their University email inboxes by requesting the Voice Mail to Email service. University units can utilize the Telephone Conferencing Service to hold secure, on-demand conference calls at any time of the day or night.

Resource Environment

The University's Emergency Notification Service is used to communicate through voice and text messages as deemed appropriate in the event of an emergency. Students, faculty, and staff must subscribe at My Pitt (my.pitt.edu) to participate in this service.

The Technology Help Desk at 412 624-HELP [4357] is available 24 hours a day, seven days per week. Students, faculty, and staff can also submit questions online or start a live online chat with a Help Desk analyst at technology.pitt.edu. The Technology Help Desk provides troubleshooting support, resolves problems, and answers "how to" questions on a variety of information technology issues. Instructional documentation is also available at technology.pitt.edu.

CSSD supports seven campus computing labs for students at the Pittsburgh campus. The labs offer more than 550 computers running Windows, Macintosh, and Linux. Computers are equipped with more than 100 of the latest software applications and tools, as well as CD writing capability and USB ports. Scanners are available to be signed out and used in each lab. Printing services include highspeed print capability in all facilities and color laser print capability in the David Lawrence Hall computing lab. Self-Service Printing stations are available in all labs. Lab locations, hours, and equipment lists are available at technology.pitt.edu. Real-time information about lab hours and the number of computers available in each lab is obtainable at Pitt Mobile (m.pitt.edu) or by texting a keyword to 41411. In addition, email kiosks are distributed throughout the Pittsburgh campus, providing convenient locations for students to check their email accounts or to browse the Web between classes.

CSSD provides security services and tools to protect computers, safeguard personal information, and secure sensitive University data. The Secure Your Data community at My Pitt (my.pitt.edu) provides faculty, staff, and departmental Information Technology staff with the capability to secure University data and computing resources. The Pitt Software Update Service, available at software.pitt.edu, protects Windows computers from viruses and security vulnerabilities by downloading and installing the latest Microsoft security updates and service packs locally from the University's network. Symantec Endpoint Protection and Norton AntiVirus software, also available at software.pitt.edu, provide virus and spyware Windows protection for and Mac computers. ComputracePlus (available to faculty and staff) and Computrace LoJack (available to students) are software programs that enable laptop computers to be traced in the event that they are ever lost or stolen.

CSSD has implemented a Central Directory that is the authoritative, centralized database of all individuals affiliated with the University. It includes information about students, faculty, and staff, as well as other classifications of individuals associated with the University. A unique feature of the Central Directory is the Find People online directory service, which allows users to conduct a search for individuals at Pitt by using their last names or University Computing Account usernames.

Support Environment

The University's Network Operations Center (NOC) monitors and manages critical University business and academic systems around the clock to ensure availability and to prevent service interruptions. Computing Services and Systems Development offers a consulting and evaluation service to University departments on a contractual basis. Through the contract program, systems analysts and technical professionals can be hired, from one to five days per week, to provide dedicated, high-level, onsite consulting.

CSSD has also established the Expert Partners program to provide departmental technical staff with access to CSSD resources, as well as liaison and training services. This program is designed to assist the departmental staff analyst in delivering high-quality support within his or her own department, coordinated with the overall direction of services provided by CSSD. In addition, the Faculty Computing Program provides departments with funding for the acquisition of the latest computer technology. As part of this program, teaching faculty can access a centralized pool of more than 75 application software programs at no cost.

Students are provided with an extensive array of software applications and utilities at no cost. The Microsoft Campus Software for Students program provides Microsoft applications and operating systems to Pitt students free of charge. Students can receive software upgrades while enrolled at the University and may retain the software when they graduate. CSSD also offers mathematics, statistics, productivity, and Internet software products without charge or at greatly reduced prices. In addition, CSSD provides the University community with a Software Download Service (software.pitt.edu) that permits students, faculty, and staff to install software that is available free of charge according to the University's enterprise and site license agreements.

Institutional Advancement

The mission of the Office of Institutional Advancement is to build relationships, inspire philanthropy, and steward those who invest in the University of Pittsburgh.

At the close of the fiscal year, the University's "Building Our Future capital campaign, Together," had raised $1.496 billion in gifts and pledges. A major focus of the campaign has been to increase the number of University endowed funds, which provide perpetual support for the University. At the end of fiscal year 2010, the University had 2,162 endowed funds, a 143% increase in the number of funds at the beginning of the campaign. To date, more than 158.003 donors have contributed to the campaign. Of these donors, 275 have given $1 million or more to the University.

In fiscal year 2010, the campaign raised over $100 million for the seventh consecutive year. The campaign also achieved over $100 million in cash received for the sixth consecutive year.

Institutional Advancement's staff members promote and mobilize volunteer activities in support of fundraising. They coordinate alumni advocacy efforts, and perform other functions in support of the University's mission. One important fundraising program is the Annual Fund, which provides potential donors with opportunities to support the University at every dollar level. From small donations which help to fund day-to- day operations to large gifts which endow entire programs, the generous support of devoted Pitt alumni, friends, parents, faculty, and staff is critical to Pitt's mission. In fiscal year 2010, 45,921 donors made gifts to the University's Annual Fund.

Institutional Advancement's Planned Giving Department assists the University's alumni and friends in arranging charitable gifts that are executed over an extended period of time or at some point in the future. These contributions, which may provide powerful tax benefits and sources of income to donors, can be made through gifts of life insurance, life income gifts, or a number of other donor-friendly options.

Corporate and Foundation Relations staff members act as liaisons between individuals at the University – faculty or various other departmental personnel – and representatives of local, national, and international corporations and foundations. The purpose of this effort is to connect University funding needs with the philanthropic interests of donor organizations. In addition, the University participates in a corporate matching gift program through which numerous corporations match eligible gifts made to the University by their employees.

The University's alumni number more than 275.000 and reside in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, four U.S. territories, and 160 foreign countries. The Office of Alumni Relations and the University of Pittsburgh Alumni Association together promote mutually productive relationships between the University and its alumni. Alumni Relations staff members foster the continued connection of alumni with Pitt after graduation, as alumni link the University's past with its future. Additionally, Alumni Relations staff members direct the Student Alumni Association and the Blue and Gold Society, an organization of outstanding student leaders who represent the University at alumni and community events. The Alumni Association charters a growing number of Pitt alumni clubs, works to influence government offices to fund and nurture higher education, and assists the University in its efforts to attract and support high-caliber students.

Institutional Advancement also administers activities held in the Heinz Memorial Chapel, a Gothic building famous for its magnificent stained glass windows. The Chapel is a focal point of campus life for students, faculty, staff, and alumni. It provides a place for worship services, concerts, lectures, memorial services, weddings, and individual reflection and meditation.
